Musical Easel

WHOSE TURN IS IT?

Each participant receives a blank canvas and begins painting a piece of art based on a pre-determined theme. Then the music starts playing, everyone walks around the artworks and when the music stops, the participants sit down at the easel in front of them and continue painting the masterpiece they have started. At the end, the participant must tell the story of the canvas in front of them, even if it is not their own. May the best story win!
